POLITICAL MATTERS.

Blackburn Wants to Go to the U. S. Senate

And Will Not Fight for the Speakership.

Southern Anti-Bourbons Confer with Mahone.

Blackburn and the Speakership.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., August 29.—A special to the Courier-Journal from Frankfort says: Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn was in the city to-day and made known his intentions concerning the speakership to Colonel J. Stodard Johnson, editor of the Frankfort Yeoman. He said: "Certainly I have no reservation when I speak to the people through the Yeoman, which I am always glad to make my medium of communication. I can say that I am not a candidate for speaker. For some weeks I have made my determination known to my friends, and you are authorized to make the announcement public. My feelings for the success of the democratic party in congress and for the organization of that body upon a basis which inure to the best interests of the country is superior to any feeling of personal ambition. Ardent friends and fellow members have urged me to prosecute a canvass for the position and have assured me of substantial strength in the caucus, but I am satisfied that in order to defeat the machinations of the protectionists and secure the election of a speaker who will reflect the true democratic theory of tariff for revenue only, it will be necessary to concentrate, rather than by having too many candidates presenting similar views to promote the chances of the common foe. By my withdrawal Kentucky will be united in the fight and I shall lend all my energies to the success of the candidate who representing the true principles of tariff reform shall show the best prospect of defeating Mr. Randall. These may be said to be the considerations of a public nature which have led me to this conclusion. There are, however, personal reasons which supplemented them, and have also a controlling influence. Since the adjournment of congress I have been urged by many personal friends to permit the use of my name as a candidate for United States senator. After mature consideration I have consented to become a candidate, and you are authorized to announce me. I do not feel that I can, with propriety, stand for both places, and therefore decline the race for the speakership to devote my energies to that of senator."

Southern Independents.

WASHINGTON, August 29. Several leaders of the anti-bourbon movement in the south have been in Washington yesterday and to-day, and to-night met in General Mahone's rooms where they remained in consultation until a late hour. Their presence here, in fact their having met in General Mahone's rooms, have given rise to many surmises as to what was the object of their coming together. They themselves say their meeting was entirely informal and not a premeditated conference; that General Mahone being here they visited him and finding themselves together the conversation naturally turned on southern politics, and prospects of a successful independent revolt against bourbon rule in particular. Among those present at the meeting were General Longstreet, General Chalmers, Judge Jeffords and George C. Gorham. General Mahone is said to have spoken with confidence of the result of the independent movement in Virginia. It is understood that it was generally agreed that this movement should be extended throughout the south and that there was an expression by those present of their earnest purpose to do what could be done to that end.

Convention of Insurance Men.

CHICAGO, August 29.—The fourteenth annual convention of fire underwriters of the northwest began to-day. It was attended by fully 200 representatives of companies doing business in the northwest and in Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee, Kentucky, Iowa, Wisconsin and Kansas. In his annual address President F. M. DeCamp, of Cincinnati, referred to beneficial rules of the organization of the state board of underwriters. After the appointment of standing committees for the ensuing year the convention adjourned for the afternoon.

In the evening Mr. G. A. Holloway, of Chicago, read a paper on risks, in which he deprecated the present tendency to broaden insurance contracts without adequate compensation, and also immoderate allowances made on rates where novel appliances which are untried are kept in readiness for extinguishing fires.

C. F. Millins advocated in a paper the compact system as opposed to the local board system of making rates. He did not deem local agents competent or free enough from prejudice to do good work for their companies. The compact system contemplated the appointment of competent men to make rates of insurance for the several districts in which companies do business, these men to receive their remuneration pro rata to business done by them.

Adjourned till to-morrow.

Don Carlos in America.

NEW YORK, August 29.—Don Carlos, the direct representative of the Spanish stem of the Bourbons and pretender to the throne now occupied by Alfonso, arrived in this country by steamer from Havre ten days ago, and was last week the guest of an ex-senator in New Jersey, at whose residence he passed several days. His visit is purely one of pleasure. He is accompanied by his valet only, who makes all arrangements at hotels and places of summer resort, and journeys under cover of one of the minor titles belonging to his family—that of duke of Montpensier, under which designation only those who are perfectly familiar with the "Almanac de Gotha" would have the least suspicion of his identity. It was his intention when he arrived to make an extensive tour in the west, going possibly as far as California; but the breaking out of the rebellion in Spain and the unsettled condition of political affairs in the peninsula render it dubious whether his original purpose will be fully executed.

Defaulters Defrauded.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., August 29.—The trial of Isaac H. Lockwood on the charge of using the United States mails for the purpose of defrauding those who wrote him by claiming that he would lend money left by a deceased banker to the amount of $780,000 to defaulters and those who had stolen money, was concluded to-day and the prisoner found guilty and sentenced one year and to pay a fine of fifty dollars. The judge's charge was rather unfavorable. The jury were out half an hour. Lockwood was much disappointed at the finding of the jury, as he confidently expected to go out riding at the conclusion of the trial. It was the intention of Lockwood to obtain $1,000,000 and go to Washington at the coming session of congress and go into business, hiring diamonds to ladies at 10 per cent. of their value so that they could go to parties and receptions without the expense of buying necessary jewelry.

Who Will Take Sheridan's Place?

WASHINGTON, August 29.—There seems to be some sort of a discussion going on quietly as to who will take Lieutenant General Sheridan's command at Chicago when he vacates it in October next to assume command of the army. General Schofield is said to be well contented at San Francisco, and General Pope doesn't much care about Chicago. But this result may be well set down: Major General Hancock to remain where he now is, with headquarters at Governor's Island, New York; Major General Schofield to transfer from San Francisco to Chicago, and Major General Pope from Leavenworth to San Francisco. This may also involve the transfer of General Miles from Vancouver's barracks to Fort Leavenworth, and of General MacKenzie from Santa Fe to Vancouver's barracks, although some hold that the latter officer will take command of the department of the south on the retirement next month of General Hunt.

Progress for Ireland.

DUBLIN, August 29.—At a meeting of the Irish National league to-day Davitt, Sexton and Parnell were present. Parnell in a speech referred to the success of efforts of Irish members of parliament to promote the laborers, tramways and migration acts. He said he believed the day was near when Irish would gain the full programme of measures for which the league had been formed. Parnell thanked the Irishmen of America and Australia for their support of the cause of progress in Ireland, which he said had been most encouraging. He said the bulk of English members of the commons conceded that home rule was necessary for Ireland.

Croatian Troubles.

AGRAM, August 29. Members of the national party in the deputies meet September 6th to discuss the situation in Croatia and the attitude they shall assume. The occurrence at Zagorlen on Monday, in which a number were killed and wounded, has made a deep impression. It is believed the feeling against Magyars is due to agitation conducted for some years by emissaries among the peasants of Croatia and also to increasing exactions of tax gatherers, for which Hungary is held directly answerable.

Volcanic Destruction.

LONDON, August 29.—A dispatch from Batavia, Java, says the towns of Angier, Tjiringhie and Tilok have been destroyed by volcanic eruption. All light houses in Sunday straits have disappeared and where the mountain Kramatar formerly stood the sea now flows. The aspect of Sunday straits is much changed and navigation is dangerous.

Search for the Varna.

THE HAGUE, August 29.—The steamer Elida left Hammerfest last week to seek for the missing arctic exploring vessel, Varna. Sixty nine thousand six hundred guilders have been subscribed here to aid the search. The government granted 30,000 guilders. The Varna was last seen in the autumn of '82.

Through a Bridge.

GALVESTON, August 29.—The News Crockett special says: Eight miles north of here to-night on the International road, an entire freight train went into a creek, the bridge having been set afire. Two brakemen are supposed to be buried in the debris. The engineer was badly burned. The fireman jumped and was saved.

Texas Railroad Building.

GALVESTON, August 29.—About 20,000 tons of railroad iron will within the next sixty or ninety days be received at this port from Europe. Some are already afloat. Ten thousand tons are narrow gauge rails for the Kansas & Gulf Short Line. The total duties amount to upward of $300,000.

Peace Signed.

PARIS, August 29.—Admiral Peyron, minister of marine, has received a dispatch from the governor of Cochin China, announcing that the Champenaux has arrived at Saigon bearing the treaty of peace between France and Annam, which was signed at Hue on the 25th instant.

GENERAL NEWS.

C. C. Howell Arrested for Criminal Libel.

El Paso is Anxious to Witness a Prize Fight.

Arthur's Party Taking in Yellowstone Wonders.

El Paso's Advantages Advertised.

DENVER, Colo., August 29.—The following is from El Paso, Texas: The citizens of El Paso are greatly excited about the proposed Slade-Mitchell contest to be held on the Mexican frontier. The El Paso Daily Times to-day published a map showing the extensive railway connection the town enjoys and giving a long description of the great advantages to be obtained for the combat, and in case they accept the offer El Paso has made them a large sum of money has been subscribed to defray the expenses of the pugilists and their friends during their stay here and it is proposed to hold a week's festivities in the town the week of the fight, bull fighting, cock fighting, Indian tournament and sports and such kind of amusements to form part of the programme. El Paso is at fever heat respecting the fight, and the answer of the principals is awaited with great anxiety. Much interest is being shown by the Mexican citizens, the citizens of Paso Del Norte having promised large money to the undertaking, and all the railway companies are doing their utmost towards furthering the scheme. It is generally believed that the offer will be accepted by Slade and Mitchell to come to El Paso. If they come they will secure very large gate receipts, as the plaza where it is proposed to hold the meeting will seat some 15,000 people.

Bold Robbery.

DENVER, August 29.—A very bold theft occurred on the Denver & Rio Grande northbound train last night. E. W. Shock, one of the passengers, had when he left Colorado Springs $330 in money, which he carried in his vest pocket. While on his way to Denver he put the vest under his head and went to sleep. When he was awakened upon his arrival in this city, he discovered that some one had taken the vest from beneath his head and made away with the money. The matter is in the hands of the detectives, but no clue has thus far been obtained.

Hungarian Mills Burned.

DENVER, August 29.—A fire occurred in the Hungarian flour mills belonging to J. K. Mullen & Co., at Eighth and Lawrence streets, at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon. It caught from the bush machine and had attained considerable headway before it was discovered. An alarm was sounded and the fire department responded promptly, so that the fire was completely under control by 2.30. The damage done by fire, smoke and water was considerable, amounting to several thousand dollars.

Howell Arrested.

DENVER, August 29.—C. C. Howell, former president of the City bank of Leadville, was arrested to-day at Littleton at the instance of T. B. Hill, cashier of the same bank, on the charge of criminal libel in stating to a Republican reporter in an interview that Hill was insane. When arrested Mr. Howell was boarding the Leadville train.

D. & R. G. Repairing.

DENVER, August 29.—The Denver & New Orleans company and the syndicate operating its road to-day put a force on the line to put its road and coal mine in first rate order for the winter by repairing all damage by the floods.

The Riverdale Disaster.

NEW YORK, August 29. Thomas J. Sauls, injured on the Riverdale, died at midnight. The following missing people have been inquired for: Mrs. Longstreet, Mr. Archibald and Mr. McConnell; Mrs. Emily Wordoff, of Haverstraw; Abram Tompkins, of Tarrytown, and three ladies who were with him; W. W. F. Tippey, Palisades Mountain house; Mrs. Longfere and daughter, of Tarrytown; W. W. Harris, superintendent Belt railway, Moses D. Getty, of Yonkers, and Mr. Rose, of Sing Sing.

The Presidential Party.

CAMP CAMPBELL, at the foot of Yellowstone Lake, Wyoming, August 27. The president and party arrived at this camp about noon to-day, having marched from the upper end of the lake, a distance of 33 miles. The trail by which we came around the borders of the lake is almost entirely through timber, and the agreeable shade and absence of dust made our ride one of the most enjoyable of the whole journey. At the point where we remain to-night there is abundant and nutritious grass. Our camp is in a fringe of fine pine timber, which cover mountain sides and is elevated enough to overlook the splendid meadow upon which our animals are feeding and command a view of the lake whose waters wash the precipitous cliffs of the Shoshone mountains. Beyond many of the peaks are snow-capped, which, in the light of the setting sun, are made visible for many miles.

The president, accompanied by Captain Clark, went fishing this afternoon, whilst the rest of the party were contented to rest and enjoy the panorama spread out before them. The president caught 35 fish weighing 45 pounds. The head of an extinct species of rhinoceros and two vertebræ of a large fossil saurian in an excellent state of preservation were found on the bank of the lake near our camp by our surgeon and naturalist, W. H. Toowerd. The specimens are interesting and will be sent to Prof. Cope at Philadelphia.

Frank James' Trial.

KANSAS CITY, August 29.—The Journal's Gallatin special says: Testimony of the state's witnesses to-day was intended to supply all missing links and to complete the chain of evidence which the state has been forging for the past four days, and when the state rested in its case to-day little doubt was left in the minds of those who have heard the evidence from the beginning of its completeness. The state has woven a network of circumstances around the accused from which it will require most direct and positive testimony in rebuttal to extricate him. But all that can be done by able lawyers will be done. Witnesses for the defense bear good characters and their testimony is entitled to great weight. The defense will doubtless be conducted upon two theories: First, it will be shown that James was not a participant in the Winston robbery and Liddel swore falsely. The other position will be that if defendant was at Winston it has not been shown that he took an active part in the affair or that the killed McMillan or robbed the express car.

When court met this afternoon Sheriff J. R. Timberlake testified to having kept a bay mare for Mr. Roberts for several days about the time of the Winston robbery. The mare was then turned over to one Graham, who came and claimed it. The state here rested its case.

Defense then asked the court to adjourn until morning in order to give them time to complete their statement and gather their witnesses. This was granted and court adjourned.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, August 29.—Money easy 2 to 3, closing offered at 2; prime paper 5½ to 6½; sterling exchange quiet at 4.82, demand 4.85¾.

Governments a fraction lower for coupons 4½s and 3s; railway bonds irregular; Denver consols higher at 80 bid; states dull. During the forenoon stocks were again considerably settled, the general range of prices being higher than yesterday. Between 12.30 and 2 prices were again lower, the decline being ¼ to ½ on the general list. Traders were conspicuous, sellers having discovered that there were no supporting orders on the board. The depression in Vanderbilts was due to rumors that the dividends of the Lake Shore and New York Central would be reduced to six per cent per annum. As compared with last night's close prices are down ½ to 2 per cent except for Central Pacific, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Chicago & Alton, St. Paul, Rock Island, and Erie preferred, which are ¼ to ½ higher.

The Evening Post says the general range of the market was higher to-day than yesterday, notwithstanding that closing prices to-day were lower than yesterday. Sales, 415,000 shares.

Mining stocks dull. Horn Silver sold 7.00; Silver King 6.88; Northern Belle 6.25 and 6.13; Eureka 6.88; Standard Consolidated, 5.50 and 5.38; Chrysolite 1.00 and 1.05; Sierra Grande, 1.10 to 1.20; Little Chief, 56 to 62; Robinson Consolidated, 54 and 52; Sonora Consolidated, 28 and 27. Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, August 29.—In dry goods there has been more doing in all departments of trade, and through many orders the takings have absorbed a large quantity of stuff in a quick way. Prints, dress goods, suitings, sackings, hosiery, shirts and drawers, Jerseys, and Jersey cloths, cottons, woolens and flannels, are in good order request by so many markets as to return very fair to good volumes, without any large degree of activity apparent.

Agreeably to announcement Wilmerding, Huguet & Co. sold at auction to-day for account of Knower & Thomas and others 7,734 pieces of dry goods. The attendance of buyers was very light. Bidding lacked spirit. The varieties were undesirable in every respect and the prices realized were very low, but full value for the goods. In fact it was the most unsightly offering seen in an auction room for a long time, for which reason its result would be without effect on the market, as good qualities in desirable styles are beginning to be scarce and are sought after at full values by chief purchasers.

Was It Murder?

DETROIT, August 29.—Harry Cutcher was found dead in his wagon Sunday morning near Perry, Shiawassee county. On Saturday Cutcher and a man named John Wolver, who had been visiting Perry, started home from Perry in company with a bottle of whisky. Both got drunk, and arriving at Cutcher's home he was left in the bottom of the wagon where he remained over night, while Wolver went into the house and went to bed. Cutcher died soon after being discovered. It is now claimed that he was covered in the morning in an unconscious condition poisoned by strychnine. Wolver has been arrested.

Indian Committee.

SIOUX CITY, August 29.—Senators Logan, Dawes and Cameron, of the special Indian committee, reached Sioux City to-day from their tour of inspection of the Missouri river Indian agencies. The senators are not prepared to say what the committee will recommend, but express the opinion that the Sioux are ready for lands in severalty. Other members of the committee are prosecuting investigations in Montana.

Railroad Wreck.

ST. LOUIS, August 29.—The Wabash train, known as the "Cannon Ball," which left Council Bluffs last night at five o'clock, when near Clifton, Mo., at two this morning, ran over a cow. The engine, baggage car and a coach were derailed and the engine upset. Engineer Hall, one of the oldest employes of the road, was killed. No passengers were injured.

RAILROAD WAR.

Temporary Injunction Issued Against the South Park

On Account of Trespass on the D. & R. G. Ground.

Armed Force Talked of by Both Roads.

The Denver Republican gives the following in regard to the railroad war now in progress in Lake county, between the Denver & Rio Grande and the South Park railroads:

As announced in the telegraphic columns of the Republican yesterday, it now looks as though the war which has been threatening for some time between the Denver & Rio Grande and South Park Railway companies had really begun. On Monday last Hon. E. O. Wolcott went to Leadville and obtained a temporary injunction against the construction of the South Park high line to the Dillon connection. The injunction is for five days, at the end of which period a hearing will be had upon the permanent contest before Judge Goddard. The leading allegation of the complaint upon which the temporary writ was issued was that the high line survey was made for miles within the one hundred feet right of way to which the Rio Grande held title in fee simple.

THE RIO GRANDE'S OBJECT.

It is the object of the Denver & Rio Grande Railway company to retard the construction of the high line until the snow flies. The Leadville Herald says that then the inclemency of the season will prevent the completion of the road until long after the notice given under the joint trackage contract has expired. While the road from Buena Vista to Leadville is owned by the Rio Grande, it is a fact well known that the South Park has always used it, in consideration of a mutual agreement and contract, which provided that the South Park should pay to the Rio Grande, monthly, a stipulated sum. The South Park, for a long time, refused to pay for this privilege, but recently, and, it is supposed, after the high line had been decided upon, it made good its delinquency, to the extent of $200,000. When the intention of the Union Pacific people to construct the cut-off was ascertained, the Rio Grande, in accordance with an incidental agreement, which provided that six months notice should be given the South Park when the contract had become obnoxious, notified them of the expiration of the joint trackage contract. If the building of the road can be so interrupted that the contract will expire, and the Rio Grande will still have fulfilled its agreement, the pool relations will remain undisturbed, while the road will, by virtue of necessity, continue to retain and probably to increase its ore shipments. In short, the purpose seems to be if the statements of those intimately identified with the fight go for anything—to continue the pool shipments as long as litigation will accomplish the end, and when injunction proceedings shall prove of no avail,

THE WAR BEGINS.

It is said that the Denver & Rio Grande are not desirous of inaugurating a railroad war, but are compelled to do so by the Denver & South Park. It is not improbable, if the construction of the high line cannot be interrupted by the legal policy adopted by the Rio Grande, the switches on the track between Buena Vista and Leadville will be spiked and the South Park's trains all stopped. South Park people give it out that they will commence the hand-to-hand trouble at an early day if the Rio Grande persists in the injunction and other legal proceedings. It is claimed by them that they have secured title to lands in California gulch and between the Union depot and the Arkansas river, which are occupied by the Rio Grande tracks and construction parties. All the tracks are to be removed and the further construction enjoined. Then again the Rio Grande makes the counter-claim of title to the same lands, and its officials declare that if the South Park people make this threatened depredation they will be met by 200 or 300 armed men in resistance. And here the matter rests, with the danger impending that the trouble will soon partake of the nature of a civil war.

It may also be stated that an additional law contest will be made against the South Park by the placer owners on the Ten Mile, unless a handsome sum of money is paid for the right of way. The Folliett placer in particular will be the scene of a hard fight.

MANITOU MENTION.

Raps and Mishaps at the Foot Hill Resort.

T. W. Tubbs and wife, of Emmerson, Iowa, are registered at the Cliff.

Hon. John W. Henry, judge of the supreme court of Missouri, is registered at the Cliff.

Mr. F. G. High, of the Chicago & Alton railway, is still rusticating at the Cliff house.

Mrs. George L. Rankin, of Pueblo, will spend some time at Manitou, guest of the Manitou house.

Mr. H. H. Trumble, attorney of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, is at the Cliff house with his daughter.

A large St. Louis party that have been summering at the Beebee left yesterday for Leadville and other mountain towns.

There was an open air concert on the Cliff house veranda last evening, the usual Wednesday night hop having been omitted.

An increased business is reported at the bath house during the past two weeks, on account of the weather being so much warmer.

Many jolly young folks who have made things lively at the Cliff during the season departed for their respective homes yesterday.

Mr. C. W. Barker is sending off a large number of the last edition of Edwards Roberts' pamphlets with the compliments of the house.

Mrs. Judge Vandiver, wife of one of the most noted attorneys of Illinois, and Mrs. Wm. Kirkwood, of St. Louis, are at the Barker.

Mr. Robert McKnight, of Allegheny City, Pa., registered at the Barker yesterday. He is on his way east from a trip through Yellowstone Park.

L. B. Brasher, representative of Brown Thompson & Co., Louisville, Ky., accompanied by his wife, is spending a few days at the Manitou house.

Mrs. General W. H. Lessig, accompanied by Miss Hill, daughter of Senator N. P. Hill, are guests at the Beebee. They have just returned from Las Vegas Hot Springs.

It is very probable that the late train between Colorado Springs and Manitou will be discontinued after this week. At least Conductor Sawyer only has orders to run until the 1st of the month.

Hon. W. Wany, of the English legation at Pekin, China, reached the Beebee yesterday from California. He is on his way to England but will visit all points of interest in Colorado before leaving.

An altercation occurred in the Cliff house kitchen between two colored waiters Tuesday evening. During the fracas one of them received a blow from a pitcher which broke his arm. He in turn pulled a revolver and shot at his opponent three times but without effect. No arrests have been made as yet.

Mrs. L. W. Towne, wife of the general superintendent of the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Gulf railroad, at Kansas City, accompanied by the charming Mrs. L. W. Towne, jr., arrived at the Manitou house yesterday noon to spend sometime. They are a valuable acquisition to the social and musical circle at that popular caravansary. Mrs. Towne, sr., is quite delicate.

LAST NIGHT'S CONCERT.

A large and appreciative audience gathered last evening in the dining room of the Manitou house to render a much deserved benefit to the orchestra who have throughout the summer favored the guests with delightful music. The opening number was finely rendered by the full orchestra. A number very much admired was a violin and flute duet from Norma. Miss May Bailey recited "Annie and Willie's Prayer" in a very sweet and taking manner, which was received with hearty applause and a pretty boquet presented her. Miss May possesses decided literary ability and will undoubtedly make her mark in this direction. Mrs. Smith, of Kansas City, covered herself with glory in the singing of a song entitled "Flower Girl." She received a very urgent encore and responded with the charming little ballad "I Know My Love Loves Me." Mrs. Smith has a sympathetic, full soprano voice and sings with fine effect, and was presented with boquets. The harp solo deserves particular mention, as it is a difficult instrument to manage and was handled upon this occasion very skillfully. The violin solo, imitating the mocking bird's song, was highly appreciated. We noticed the young folks were more than delighted with the grand finale as it so soon led the merry dance. On the whole it was the most successful concert ever given in Manitou and netted the band $100 as a substantial testimony of their services. They return thanks to the Colorado Springs boys, and guests of the Manitou house in tendering them such a flattering benefit.

The only judicial officer in England higher than Lord Chief Justice Coleridge is the lord chancellor. He cannot leave his position without putting the great seal in commission, a proceeding that is very troublesome and costs some $5,000. So we may never expect a higher judicial official to visit us than we now have.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, General Boynton, gives a lengthy review of the career of N. W. Fitzgerald, pension agent at Washington. Though Fitzgerald has made a fortune, his methods are those of a confidence man as shown by his own letters. If any of our readers are trying to collect back pensions through him we advise them to put their claims in other hands.

General Butler was once asked to do a doubtful thing as chairman of the judiciary committee of the house of representatives. He said he would do it but that his action would not be concurred in by the chairman of the senate committee, the Hon. Lyman Trumbull. He said Trumbull was troubled with a conscience which made him uncertain in some things. Mr. Butler had, however, no such inconvenient appendage. Massachusetts statesmen have usually had this quality. But now it is governed by a man who has none. This is a sad fall.

The Denver Tribune says that there will be a bitter factional fight in Arapahoe county this fall. Private wrongs and injuries are to be revenged. The Tribune also says the bolters of 1881 are the men who started the dissatisfaction. This is not a propitious opening for the presidential campaign next year. But it cannot be avoided. Arapahoe has too many fat offices and too many ambitious state men who will rule or ruin. A lesson like that of last fall may be administered with effect this fall. The politicians may nominate but the people will elect.

The time has come, in our opinion, when the democracy of the south should not only appear in full force at the national convention, but appear prepared to press, with due respect, the convictions of southern democrats, as to both men and measures.—[Nashville American.

This would suit the republicans very well. But it would be very trying to the northern democrats who are adopting republican platforms and nominating republican candidates. The south has had little to say in the democratic party since 1861, and twenty-two years is a long time to be silent. It has, however, been making history in that period and its record will be considered in any ticket it may nominate. The south, however, might as well control the democratic party as before the war. The northern democrats have controlled it since, but to no purpose.

It is a significant fact that the last three democratic candidates for governor in Ohio have been republicans. Senator Sherman, in his speech Friday, inferred from this that "to the extent of acquiescence in the great issues that divided us in the past, the democratic party concedes we were right." It certainly has this appearance, especially as Judge Hoadly was one of the bitterest denouncers of the democracy in Ohio. It is certainly a great reflection on the old democrats who have continued faithful to the party. It may also indicate that the democracy is afraid to go into a campaign with a candidate who was a democrat during war and reconstruction times. This is a confession that they were wrong. For the last ten years it has borrowed all its principles from the republicans, from the emancipation of the slave to the resumption of specie payment. It is only natural therefore that it should borrow its candidates from the same source.

Professor Huxley's son has just taken the highest honors in chemical studies at Oxford. Professor Huxley certainly should have as high a conception of practical studies as any one and that he should give his son a classical education is worthy of remark. It may possibly have been suggested by his own weakness in accurate scholarship. His attempts a few years ago to discuss a pure philosophy, both in a college address and his biography of Hume, made him appear rather ridiculous. He attempted to discuss ancient philosophy, but found that knowledge of Greek and a mind trained to the subtile distinctions of philosophy was needed. He has let theology and philosophy alone lately and has shown at least ability to appreciate the limits of his own knowledge and acquirements in so doing. He started with the idea that a biologist knew about everything worth knowing. But he has learned that other specialists know something. It might be well for some theologians to draw a moral from his experience and profit from his mortifying blunders. They should not be too ready to attack scientific investigation and thought which is confined to its own sphere, even if it plays havoc with preconceived notions. Truth is in no danger from error and will fight its own fight. It is well to be chary of expressing opinions outside of one's own department.

The address of M. Renan to the pupils of the Lycee Louis le Grande in Paris is full of very interesting passages. He impresses on the young men the responsibilities of life, but at the same time takes a helpful and hopeful view of life. His closing paragraph has a pathetic quality coming from a man whose life is practically ended. He says:

"You will behold the twentieth century, my young friends. Ah! I confess I envy you that other privilege, you will see the unforeseen! You will hear what posterity says of us, you will know what there was of solid and what there was of frail in our dreams. Be kind to us who preceded you. This poor old nineteenth century, which will be so well abused, had good people in it, faithful souls, warm hearts and heroes of duty. Generations as they follow each other are oftimes unjust to each other. You are the nursery garden of the talent of the future. I fancy I descry amid you the very critic who about the year 1950 or 1960 A. D. will sit in judgment on this age. I imagine I read his judgment ... 'What a sign of the times! what a complete reversal of all proper notions of things, to choose in 1883 for our president at the distribution of prizes a man harmless enough, but the very last who should have been selected, etc., etc. He gave some good advice, but what feebleness, what lack of indignation against his times!' Thus, doubtless, will write the conscientious critic of the twentieth century, and perhaps he will not be far wrong; but do not let him forget to add how glad I was to be among you, how your marks of sympathy went to my heart, and how the touch of your youth revived and rejoiced me."

The French national subscription for a monument to Gambetta now amounts to $30,000, and the Alsace-Lorraine subscription, for the same purpose, to about half that sum.

Benjamin Rampal, who translated Schulze Delitzsch's works into French has bequeathed to the municipality of Paris the sum of $40,000 to be used in promoting the cause of co-operation in all its forms.

The birth rate in England is 34 per 1,000, and the death rate 20 per 1,000. At this rate the natural growth of the population would be nearly half a million a year, but the real increase is much less, owing to emigration and occasional epidemics.

The leading literary club of New Orleans has a majority of Creoles. Mr. G. W. Cable, in his books, whose subjects are in Old New Orleans, has described the Creoles, and has become famous. But when he was proposed as a member of their club the very nomination was considered as an insult, and he was rejected.

Bronson Howard the playwright, is living handsomely on his royalties in London. He and his wife have a double tricycle, on which they stow some goods and start off on a twenty or thirty mile trip. He will succeed Mary Anderson in the occupancy of Howard Paul's house.

Mr. M. B. Curtis ("Sam'l of Posen") has returned from England with no love of conceited supercilious Englishmen who, he says, do not like America or Americans. He says that Irving isn't considered a great actor but only the fashion. Irving to Booth, he says, is a tallow candle to an electric light.

Stories of Judge Black.

A stalwart Kentuckian visiting the national capital during the Milliken trial accidentally stumbled into the supreme court room. He had never heard Judge Black before, and listened with the utmost interest almost to the conclusion. He could not contain himself after the eloquent counsel, with all his terrible power and invective, had contrasted military tribunals with the impudent assumption of Lola Montez in importing a pack of English bull dogs into Munich to harass and worry and tear everybody who displeased the royal mistress of a dissolute king's fancy. As he told how the people finally arose and "drove out king, dogs and strumpet," Kentucky rushed breathless from the court room over to the house and begged the first group of congressmen whom he encountered to "hurry over to the court room and hear old Jerry Black give them hell."

His appearance before the supreme court was always a subject of interest and attention by the judges, and Justice Miller, a political opponent, once said that "it is always a relief when Judge Black rises to speak. His arguments are as delightful as a page from Macaulay." The same member of the court less relished an incident that is worth telling. Upon one occasion, since the civil rights laws were passed, a white man was indicted for killing a negro in Kentucky, and the motion was made to transfer his case to the federal courts for trial before a mixed jury. Judge Black was earnestly pressing the case upon the court for a decision of some mooted point, when, to avoid judgment upon it, the court held that it had no jurisdiction, the law in question not being applicable to the case in which the victim was a negro and the defendant a white man. Sauntering up the street a few days afterward with a Pennsylvania friend, Judge Black met Justices Miller and Strong. Stopping them and addressing his friend, that they might hear, he said "I want to introduce you to these two gentlemen. They are a remarkable pair. They are two judges of the supreme court, who, in order to dodge a constitutional point, decided that killing a nigger did not affect him."

On one occasion, when attacked on the democratic side of the house, Thad Stevens highly eulogized Black as a lawyer and a man, but expressly withheld any indorsement of his politics, which were as bad, he said, as possible. In their originality, their courage and their inflexibility there were points of resemblance between Stevens and Black, though in other respects the widest dissimilarity prevailed. There were no social relations between them, they scarcely ever spoke, but up to the time of his death Stevens cherished the highest respect for him, and Black has said, "When Mr. Stevens died he was unequaled as a lawyer, and he said the smartest things that ever were said, but his mind, so far as a sense of obligation to God is concerned, was a howling wilderness."

One day Black was surrounded by a bevy of his personal friends on the floor of the house, among the rest Judge Mercur, then the Bradford congressman, who turned to him and said "Judge Black, you have more friends on this side of the house than on your own. You ought to be a republican. If you would join us we would appreciate you and give you due prominence." To which Judge Black made reply that he knew it all to be true; the republicans were good fellows, he would like to belong to them, and there was only one thing in the way. "If," he said, "there were no hereafter I would join the republican party at once. Nothing deters me but the fear of hell."

Early Plays

Edinburgh Review

Down to the close of the twelfth century there appears to be no certain trace of any dramatic piece wholly in the vernacular except in France. Even there, however, Latin, or a similar transitional admixture of Latin and Provencal, is common throughout both these countries, during which the dramas continue to be on sacred themes, occasionally including original combinations, thus the parable of "The Wise and Foolish Virgins" is introduced into the resurrection announced to them on which the foolish, but the foolish only go to sleep and spill their oil. In due course their alarm and rejection follow much as in the parable. The manuscript of this play includes most naive and concise stage directions, or rather instructions for the mise en scene, in the days when actors managed all that for themselves, ... "Let hell be on one side and the houses on the other, and then heaven." ... Galilee to be in the midst, an Emmaus also required. Then when every one is seated and silence prevails, let Joseph of Arimathea approach Pilate and say"—and thereupon follows the opening dialogue. In a Munich manuscript of the thirteenth century the mystery of the nativity shows a delightful unconsciousness of any ... ontological trammels. Balaam on his ass, Isaiah and Daniel uplift their prophetic voices in unison. To them enter the chief of the Jewish synagogue, who, hearing the Virgin birth predicted, denounces it straightway as a monstrosity dire enough to turn the stars in their courses and topsy-turvy the whole realm of nature, ... in good set terms" on the prophet Isaiah for hazarding such an oracle. The latter leaves the argument for the defense to his distinguished contemporary, St. Augustine, who in orthodox fashion proceeds to demolish the unbeliever. In the twelfth century, while the vernacular was encroaching on the French stage, Latin and the Liturgy ruled the entire Teutonic development of the dramatic germ. Then we come upon the linguo farcita, in which Latin and Old German appear by turns. Further in the thirteenth, although all "mysteries" still follow simply the text of Scriptures or holy mystery, and the passion mystery is still the sun of the dramatic system, yet the vernacular has nearly overpowered the Latin, all the principal parts of the piece being in Old German, and as we progress further in stage directions only is Latin retained, and the whole delivery is in the people's tongue. The word "exit" still retained in English dramatic literature, is probably the last vestige of these classical traditions. In the first editions of the Elizabethan dramatists, many of the stage directions are in Latin.

Tarring a Rat

Chambers' Journal

Rats are wonderfully clean animals, and they dislike tar more, perhaps, than anything else, for if it once gets on their jackets they find it most difficult to remove it. Now, I had heard it mentioned that pouring tar down at the entrance of their holes was a good remedy; also placing broken pieces of glass by their holes was another remedy. But these remedies are not effective. The rats may leave their old holes and make fresh ones in other parts of the house, they don't, however, leave the premises for good. I thought I would try another experiment—one I had not heard of before. One evening I set a large wire cage rat trap, attaching inside a most seductive piece of strongly smelling cheese, and next morning I found, to my satisfaction, that I had succeeded in trapping a very large rat, one of the largest I had ever seen, which, after I had besmeared him with tar, I let loose into his favorite run. The next night I tried again, and succeeded in catching another equally big fellow, and served him in the same manner. I could not follow these two tar besmeared rats into their numerous runs, to see what would happen, but it is reasonable to assume that they either summoned together all the members of their community, and by their crest-fallen appearance gave their comrades silent indications of the misfortune which had so suddenly befallen them, or that they frightened their brethren away, for they one and all forsook the place and fled. The experiment was eminently successful. From that day in 1875 till now, 1883, my house, ancient though it is, has been entirely free from rats, and I believe that there is no remedy equal to this one, if you can catch your rat alive. They never came back to the house again.

Braces or Waistband?

Nature

Having worn a Spanish sash for some time many years ago while walking in the Pyrenees, I am decidedly of opinion that the weight of the trousers is supported much more easily and pleasantly by a sash than by braces, these last are narrow, about two inches wide, and though custom enables us to wear them without conscious inconvenience, I think any one using them for the first time would find them very unpleasant. The sash worn by the middle and lower class in Aragon is of wool 8 or 9 inches broad, and (if my recollection is correct) about 4½ feet long, when of such width and length it does not need to be drawn tight, but only closely wrapped round the waist and the end tucked in. I should certainly wear one constantly but that I do not wish to have an eccentric appearance. Medical men, I believe, attach much value to the wearing of sashes or bands round the stomach, especially in hot countries. A narrow silken sash which must be drawn tight is, I should suppose, far less pleasant to wear.

A War Ship Built in 1812

The old ship New Orleans is soon to be sold at auction. The house which was built over it at Sackett's Harbor at the close of the war of 1812 was blown down three years ago. Since then the vessel has been the sport of storms. To day it stands a sad, weather-beaten object, awaiting its final destruction at the fall of the auctioneer's hammer. Many of its timbers have walked off in the shape of canes. The ship was built in sixty days from the time the timber stood in the forests, and would have been launched in thirty more had not peace been declared. All the rigging was conveyed at great expense and under difficulties from New York. There were no railroads, and the government road that ran out of and into Sackett's Harbor was a very rude affair. The anchor chain of the New Orleans, weighing from 6,000 to 8,000 pounds, was carried from Utica on the shoulders of 300 men, who traced their way by means of blazed trees. The New Orleans was built as a counter-march on Lake Ontario for the British ship St. Lawrence.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, by increasing vital power and rendering the physical functions regular and active, keeps the system in good working order, and protects it against disease. For constipation, dyspepsia and liver complaint, nervousness, kidney and rheumatic ailments it is invaluable, and it affords a sure defence against malarial fevers, besides removing all traces of such disease from the system. A HEAVY MINING DEAL.

Story of the Sale of the Lee Group Untrue—History of Negotiations.

The Republican of Wednesday contained the following concerning the rumored sale of the Robert E. Lee, Matchless and other mines to an English syndicate:

Notwithstanding the statement published yesterday morning to the contrary, the sale of the Robert E. Lee, Matchless and other mines has not as yet been consummated. This city is at the present time the temporary residence of the gentlemen who are at present the owners of these mines and those who wish to become the owners, and it is more than probable that the transfers of the properties will take place in a few days. There is a great deal of activity noticeable among the parties interested, and conferences have been held, though this is denied by Mr Pennock. The statement, as published, was to the effect that the Robert E Lee, Matchless and Scooper mines, together with other minor properties, had been purchased by a syndicate of London capitalists, at the price of $5,000,000.

For over a year the negotiations have been going on, and during that time it has been reported that the sale had been consummated, and it has again been rumored that the efforts of Mr. Pennock to sell the mines had proved to be unavailing. During the greater part of this time Mr. Pennock, who is one of the largest, if not the largest, owners of the Robert E Lee mine, has been in London. A few weeks ago he returned to this country, and he was accompanied by several of the members of the syndicate which proposes to buy the mines. He came west, and on arriving in this city, refused to talk on the subject of the sale. He went to Leadville, and was there joined by the London capitalists. They returned to this city yesterday morning. Mr. Pennock is quartered at the St. James, but where the others are cannot be ascertained. A conference was held yesterday afternoon in Mr. Pennock's room, but what was done is a matter on which all those present are silent. There is no doubt, however, that the sale will be closed in a few days, should no unforeseen circumstance occur to prevent it.

A Republican reporter found Mr. Houdebush, who it has been reported has carried on the negotiations for the sale, in the Windsor hotel.

"Has the sale of the Robert E Lee mine together with others to London capitalists, been consummated?" was asked.

"No, sir, the sale has not been made, and the statement published to the contrary is untrue. I expect that the negotiations will be completed in a few days, as the capitalists who propose to make the purchase came through from Leadville to-day, where they have been inspecting the properties."

Mr. John L. Herrick, manager of the London mine and one of the best informed mining men in the state, was next approached.

"Can you tell whether the Robert E. Lee, Matchless and other mines have been sold as yet to the London capitalists?"

"I do not believe that the mines have been sold, but they will be, I expect, in a few days."

A reporter met Governor Tabor and asked him if the published statement to the effect that the mines had been sold was true.

"There is not a word of truth in it," said he.

Several unsuccessful efforts were made to get an interview with Mr. Pennock, but he positively declined to see any reporters. The Republican scribe obtained the number of the gentleman's room and found it in darkness.

"Is Mr. Pennock here?"

"Yes, sir; what do you want?" answered a voice from the darkness.

"Can I see you for half a minute?"

"Yes, sir."

"Is it true that the sale of the Robert E. Lee, Matchless and other mines has been made?"

"No, sir."

"Will the sale be made?"

"I cannot tell."

"Do you think it will be made?"

"It may be and it may not. I cannot tell what will occur."

"Will $5,000,000 be the consideration for the transfer of the properties to the London capitalists?"

"I cannot say."

"If your expectations are realized how soon do you think the sale will be consummated?"

"In a few days."

"Did the London capitalists adjourn to have a conference to-day?"

"No, sir."

"Who is conducting the negotiations?"

"I am, and no person, not even the other owners of the mine, know anything about the matter."

"Then the statement published that the mines had been sold is premature?"

"Yes, sir; it is not only premature but foolish. It is not true and does not do any good."

Sol Smith Russell in "Edgewood Folks."

It is with pleasure that we announce the coming of this famous comedian. We clip the following from the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"'Edgewood Folks' pleased the Cincinnati folks last evening as much, if not better, than any entertainment the management has offered this season. The first scene is one of the handsomest yet shown at this house, and is as charming and realistic a one as we have seen for years. Mr. Sol Smith Russell is one of the best and most natural humorists on our stage, and as we say in the classics, he 'paralyzed' his audience last night, and they seemed to desire to keep him on the stage all the time. His success was instantaneous, and he made one of the greatest hits that our city has witnessed for a long time—one that insures him and his play a fine business. The comedy gives some good work to all of the cast, and they take advantage of the opportunity, the support being much above the average. We have not the space for individual mention, all the company were equal to the parts assigned them. 'Edgewood Folks,' the star, and the company have made the hit of the season, and you must go and see it and enjoy yourself."

Villard's Work.

New York, August 29.—Speaking of Mr. Villard's enterprise, a paper of this city says: In 1876 Mr Villard began to examine into the Northern Pacific. He already knew more about it than any one in its direction. It had an enormous land grant that ran through the great wheat belt of Dakota, which was becoming more and more valuable. His examination made him determined to buy the stock, franchise and all. At that time it had very little value, and was worth from eight to ten cents, and at these figures Villard and his associates bought not less than 80,000 shares, and five years ago, when the annual meeting occurred, to the amazement of the old owners, Mr. Villard reconstructed the direction of the Northern Pacific, electing himself president of the company, in place of Frederick C Billings, of Vermont. Mr Villard's energy since his election has been untiring. He has sold nearly $30,000,000 worth of land, and has two thirds of the grant yet untouched. It is estimated that this land grant alone is worth $100,000,000. That which has been sold has brought from $2.50 to $6 per acre, and much of the rest is the most valuable portion of the grant. The road will be opened in a few weeks from the Pacific ocean to the great lakes, and as thoroughly equipped as any in the country. At 49 Mr. Villard is among the rich men of the country, and he has made all his fortune in ten years, and from absolutely nothing. His Oregon steamship stock is worth $8,000,000, and his interest in the Northern Pacific not less than $10,000,000, a very fair fortune for a newspaper reporter to make in ten years.

Labor Fight Expected

CHICAGO, August 29.—The Western Window Glass Manufacturers association held its session here to day to finally determine the scale of wages to be paid employes. All leading manufacturers were represented. The committee on wages reported the following scale of wages, which is the same submitted by them to workmen at the recent conference in Pittsburg. For blowing, ten per cent reduction on the present list for single strength and twenty per cent reduction for double strength; for gathering 65 per cent of blowers' wages for single and 52¼ 56 per cent for double strength. Manufacturers assert that this makes a total reduction of 6 per cent, which they claim has been necessitated by changes in the tariff. This is claimed to be the ultimatum of manufacturers and that 80 per cent of all in the country have pledged themselves in promising to abide by it. Manufacturers all declare that they look for a long fight but expect to win in the end. They further assert that the union of workers in glass is one of the strongest in the country, but has grown arbitrary and dictatorial to a degree where they are compelled to make the fight an offensive one. Nothing is known here as to the probable action of the workmen.

A Priceless Diamond.

Mr. Porter Rhodes, the fortunate owner of the priceless diamond that bears his name, is at present in Paris awaiting the result of a competition between two millionaires desirous of possessing the jewel. The stone was found in his mine at Kimberley, South Africa, in the beginning of 1880, and made a great sensation among the diggers when the discovery was made known about four months later. Mr. Porter Rhodes was obliged to satisfy their curiosity by exhibiting the diamond. Accordingly he placed it in a friend's office, charged a sovereign for admission, and in this way received £100 within the first two hours. Altogether he made by the exhibition £500, which he gave to the local hospital. On his arrival in England he was honored with an invitation to Osborne, in order that her Majesty might inspect the stone. He was afterward taken to Osborne Cottage and had an interview with the Empress Eugenie. Mr. Porter Rhodes considers that his diamond as far surpasses the Kohinoor in purity as it does in weight, the Indian stone weighing 106¼ carats, the Cape diamond about 150 carats. He said to his interviewer: "I shall have at least fulfilled one mission—I shall have convinced the world that the cape diamonds are as radiantly pure and blue-white as the Dresden drop and the Braganza. I shall thus upset one popular delusion."

THE SECRET:

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent cures in three days.

Through a typographical error the potato product of El Paso county was given in the agricultural statistics of the county in Tuesday's issue of the Gazette as 8,041 bushels, when it should have been 80,341 bushels.

The survey of the extension for the water works on Ruxton creek has been completed and filings placed on record with the county clerk. At the next meeting of the council an appropriation will probably be made for the immediate completion of the work.

Thomas Shideler's Buffalo mine in the Gunnison district has been putting out some 100 ounces ore and arrangements for shipping will be completed in about two weeks, when the ore now on the dump, some 60 or 70 tons, will be shipped, and regular shipments will be made.

At four o'clock yesterday afternoon J. C. Dwall, the contractor, reported the artesian well down to a depth of 55 feet, or about the same depth as it was last Saturday when the casing collapsed. At present the casing is driving smoothly, although it may yet be necessary to cut it down to bed rock.

A colored man whose name we were unable to obtain from the officers claims that on Monday night he had $110 stolen from his vest pocket. On that day he was at Manitou, Colorado City and the beer garden and does not seem to know how or where he did lose it. The officers have the matter in hand.

Another change has occurred in the management of the Tabor Grand at Denver, and Mr. Morse has been requested to step down and out by Ex-Senator H. A. W. Tabor. Manager Nye went to Denver yesterday morning to see what the result would be. It is probable that he may succeed Mr. Morse.

To-morrow the Sunday school of the First M. E. church will run an excursion to Elbert over the Denver & New Orleans road. The place is commended as a very attractive picnic resort, and abundance of pleasure is promised those joining the excursion. The train will leave the D. & N. THE

Seven Lakes Hotel

IS NOW OPEN

It is the highest Hotel of the kind in the world and in the highest forest.

"The principal lake is [illegible] feet deep and one mile in diameter; is the highest in the world, 11,000 feet above tide water."—Report of the U. S. [illegible].

It has the highest [illegible] in the world.

"The road via Cheyenne Canon and Beaver Park to Pikes Peak, about 14,000 feet, is the highest carriage road in the world, and the [illegible] crater, within which are the Hotel and Lakes, is the highest and largest in the world. It does not [illegible] against the [illegible] that has been [illegible]."—[illegible] of the Kansas State University.

Professor Sprung says: "The scenery is extraordinary; sublime beyond description."

Said the pyrotechnist who made the fire works for the great Masonic celebration in Chicago: "I never felt so near the Great White Throne as when looking up from stupendous remains of God Almighty's fire works."

Rev. H. C. Crane says: "Along the Cheyenne road, and at the Lakes, the views are gorgeous. By the [illegible] lake, over [illegible] feet in the air, I found many precious crystals. I have never felt so happy since my marriage day."

Rev. Mrs. Crane: "All this, and heaven too."

[illegible], the Rocky Mountain artist: "I never grow weary of looking at it. It changes every hour. Cheyenne mountain, over the crest of which runs the road to the Lakes and Pikes Peak, is the only mountain in the world which rises without a base. From the prairies it boldly springs up 4,000 feet."

Various journals, notably the Atlantic Monthly, and "H. H." speak kindly of the House, Lakes and road.

"If, for some kind friend to kick me up another hill," said Mark Twain before the road was made.
